FAIRVIEW RESIDENTS REQUEST COUNCIL TO PAVE STREET; $150 VOTED FOR RECREATION

Postwar Survey Will be Made in City; Flood Control Asks City Spend $7000

A number of residents appeared before the Council Tuesday evening to request that Fairview Ave. be paved. Dr. R. C. Simpson, Mrs. Norozny and Ralph Valencia spoke on the subject and stated that this is one of the few streets which have not been thus improved and now that Sunnyside is being paved, it should be the ideal time to do the work. Several times, it has appeared that the paving would be done but for one reason or another it was never started. It is contended that it is very dusty, the street is only one block long and is higher on the north side which causes much water in time of rain on the south side. Inasmuch as paving equipment will be on the ground for the Sunnyside work, it would simplify matters to have the whole done. The matter was referred to Councilman Schiltz, head of the street committee.

A communication from Jas. C. Harbin, 455 E. Sierra Madre Blvd., objected to a rifle range being established in the lower part of Bailey Canyon, as he has purchased a lot near there with a view to building a home, and selected the spot because of its solitude. He suggested that the rifle range be located on the city dump or some other place farther from his site.

Auditor W. R. Wright was hired for another year to audit the city's books, at a cost of $125 a quarter.

Chief McMillan reported that the Humane Society is willing to make another contract as dog catcher but it was decided to give the dog owners another chance to keep objectionable canines off the streets and other people's property and their barks muffled, so the proposition was tabled for a month.

Councilman Reynolds reported that the Recreation Commission has organized and is planning to form soft-ball teams at the school grounds for older children and adults. They plan to use the City Park two nights a week and the first one will be next Tuesday evening, July 17. They hope to start a tennis tournament for the high-school age and adults.

Charline Stansbury Honored by Noted Voice Critic

Confident in the ability and rare voice timbre of her pupil, Mrs. Grace McCarty has been sustained in her judgment. Mrs.

CHARLINE STANSBURY, Mezzo Soprano

McCarty has been the sole teacher of Charline Stansbury and in an audition before Madam Schwars of Hollywood last week, she was told that Charline has a beautiful voice, perfectly placed and that she will be ready for a Metropolitan Audition next fall. Madam Schwars has accepted Miss Stansbury as a pupil and will take her to New York when she returns.

Charline Stansbury's entree to Madam Schwars was through the interest which Rise Stevens, Metropolitan star in "Going My Way," has shown after hearing Charline's voice in recordings. Miss Stevens received her coaching from Madam Schwars.

Mrs. McCarty is planning to give a benefit concert for Miss Stansbury soon to make it possible for her to make the New York trip.

Pascoe Services at Episcopal Church Wednesday

Although having lived in the city a relatively short time it was a sad message that came from the Los Angeles hospital that John Gluyas Pascoe Sr. passed away Monday following a three weeks' illness. Mr. Pascoe came to the city six months ago to become an associate of John C. Loomis, realtor. Mr. Pascoe having been a real estate broker all his life. He was born in Kansas City, Mo., 53 years ago and is survived by his wife, Saline Pascoe of the family residence, 373 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., and sons, Chief Petty Officer J. G. Pascoe of the U.S. Navy, and Tony Pascoe, and a daughter Flo-Ree Pascoe. There are also two brothers, Arthur J. Pascoe and Harold Pascoe of Long Beach; sisters, Mrs. Clinton Gills, Los Angeles; Mrs. Dorel Caley, Hollywood; Mrs. Alice Slopansky, Montana, and Mrs. Winifred Dunnavan, San Francisco.

The services were conducted by the Grant chapel at the Church of the Ascension with Rev. John S. Neal officiating at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Pall bearers: Bruno Tyrone, Hall Perry, Joe T. Russell, Arthur Morse, Franklin Fontz and Mr. Culley.

Brothers Return to England; Here During Blitz

Mrs. George Morgridge is in receipt of a most interesting letter from her former pupil, David Morris, who, with his younger brother, came to the United States during the blitz of England. He returned to his home two months ago and writes Mrs. Morgridge that he is attending the Radcliff School for Boys near Rugby. He is very glad to be in England again but is rather homesick for America. David was eight years old when he came here, the boys making the trip both ways alone.

Alfred Dewey Sketches at Norco Navy Hospital

Loans Paintings as Uplift to Patients

You can't say there isn't a place for every one to help in this war program. There have been many groups in Red Cross, blood bank, surgical dressings, motor corps, nurses aid, first aiders, etc., etc., and now the artists find it is time for them to step in and do their job.

Alfred J. Dewey is the first artist from this Chapter to contribute his skill to the uplift of sick soldiers. Last week General and Mrs. Edward Clinton Young took Mr. Dewey to Spadra hospital, a unit of Norco Navy Hospital, for an afternoon of sketching among the hospital cots. Mr. Dewey says, "I want to go again and again."

His work with the men was rewarded by eager interest and as he sketched he was deluged with questions about his work, a constant chat about lines, color, perspective. He was able to do eight stunning heads during his stay and the nurse in charge said she had many problems to settle as the men confidentially asked her to decide whether the drawings should be sent to the mother or the sweetheart. She told Mrs. Young, who is chairman of the Red Cross Camp and Hospital committee that she feared she was rather prejudiced in favor of the mothers.

Mr. Dewey loaned the hospital six oils and six water colors for a two week period which were hung in the lounge. It was an open day at the hospital and over a thousand people came to the lounge to see the exhibit.

Send Your Fish Tackle to War

There is an Army Hospital in Southern California that has no radios or means of entertainment for the convalescing men. The local Camp and Hospital committee of Red Cross has been asked to provide a portable phonograph for this hospital. If you have one which you are willing to give, kindly call the Red Cross Chapter house, CU, 5-6183, and contact Mrs. Clinton Edward Young, chairman of the committee.

Another very immediate request is for fishing tackle, fly rods especially. This particular equipment is needed in the hospitals to develop breathing in certain types of casualty recovery.

Discussion of Group Insurance at Kiwanis

At the Kiwanis club Tuesday, Dr. M. Tremaine, physician from Los Angeles, spoke on the new group health insurance plan. Over 5600 physicians have joined with the hospitals thru the Blue Cross plan in an effort to bring adequate medical, surgical and hospital care through voluntary non-profit medium, known as California Physicians' Service. The average family is not always in a position to meet the expenses incurred by a major operation or a long period of hospitalization. Employed groups of five or more employees under the same employer are eligible for the service. Dr. Earl Gossard was program chairman.

Dr. Wm. A. Easter of Hollywood, a former resident of Sierra Madre, was a visitor.

The speaker at the next meeting will be Capt. Jesse Bales, public relations officer, from the Mira Loma Quartermaster's depot. His subject will be "Breadbasket of the Army" and he will also speak on the K9 Corps.

TRUCK WITH SHOW EQUIPMENT STOLEN FROM M. KORTKAMP

Moreland Kortkamp has written her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Kortkamp, from Liege, Belgium, as of June 21. She tells how very hard it has been to receive mail as they have been on the move so much. "Today we had a tragedy happen which may necessitate our return to the states," said Miss Kortkamp. "The truck with all of our equipment on it was stolen. That means $4,000 worth of costumes and props, plus two pianos, flood lights, etc. It was quite a blow to us and our show had to be cancelled to night. We are hoping the M.P. will be able to trace it but there is so much of that going on over here that they say we have about a 10% chance. The black market

VETERAN OF NAVY KILLED IN CRASH

Carlisle K. House, 25, a veteran of World War II, was instantly killed Monday night when his car catapulted through the air and wound itself around a light post at Melrose Ave. and Colorado St. Witnesses told the officers that the car was traveling at least 75 miles an hour at the time of the impact and turned over in the air several times before it struck the pole.

Carlisle was the son of Lillian and Arthur Planke of Los Angeles. He resided at 321 Lake Ave., Pasadena. He lived in Sierra Madre until 11 years ago, was the son of the late Carl House of this city. He was a member of the Sierra Madre Congregational church.

Funeral services will be Saturday, 2 p.m., at the Grant chapel. Rev. Frederic Grootsema officiating. Interment at Inglewood Park cemetery.

PUBLIC TO BE GUESTS AT CITY PARK; EQUIPMENT IN READINESS FOR EVERYONE

Wistaria Vine Rated Among Novel Sights of the Southland

The Wistaria Vine is listed among more than 1200 attractions already uncovered in a postwar sight-seeing census of Southern California.

The census is being "taken" by Welcomettes of the Visitors Bureau of the All-Year Club of Southern California under the direction of Charles Tanner, a director of the club.

Purpose of the "census" of Southland attractions is to plan and prepare new literature with which to bid for postwar tourists without delay as soon as victory in the war is a reality.

Even for Southern Californians, more or less familiar with the area's assets, the study turns up a tremendously varied array of intriguing entertainment and recreational possibilities. They range from exotic Olvera St., a typical Mexican byway leading from the historic old Plaza, birthplace of Los Angeles, to huge Los Angeles-Long Beach Harbor, home of the Pacific Fleet in peacetime, now a busy port of embarkation for the war in the Far East.

Such novel sights as La Brea Tar Pits, the Kellogg Arabian Horse Farm, the Joshua Forest, historic Franciscan Missions, submarine gardens and many other attractions peculiar to this area are included in the survey.

Forestry Service Asks Local Boy Scout Help

No Forest Lightning Fires With 20 lightning strikes reported in the Angeles National Forest since Sunday, the Forest Service and the Los Angeles County sheriffs have completed an airplane reconnaissance trip over the area to spot fires which may have resulted from these strikes.

Virgil C. Shoemaker, central fire dispatcher for the forest, who went on the trip, reported that no blazes or smokes were spotted from the air. All lightning strikes, in the forest, however, leave potential forest fires in their wake, he pointed out. The fires sometimes smolder for several days before coming to a real blaze.

is so prevalent now that our equipment is a real haul in the hands of one who deals in that manner." Editor's note — Miss Kortkamp has charge of a classic ballet, is manager and soloist of her troupe putting on entertainment for the U.S.O. has been overseas in Europe for 18 months. "I had lots of music plus many photographs and pictures of places we've been. One of the group has hundreds of dollars tied up in his trunk most of which he can never replace. All we can do now is sit tight and wait for some news."

"We were in Holland lately, a charming city called Waastrecht, the oldest one in Holland. The people are so charming and very friendly. It was such a relief to see a town all in one piece, after being up in Germany where the cities are flattened to the ground. We played in Aachen two days—stayed in a bombed out resort hotel. I may be seeing you sooner than expected."

First Word in Six Years from Norway

Mrs. Don Parker, 31 E. Highland, had some very pleasant news this week. She received a cable from her aunt in Molde, Norway, saying that her relatives were all well. This is the first word Mrs. Parker has had in six years concerning any of her aunts, uncles and cousins who are all in Norway. She has been trying since V-E Day to get word from them and when she sent a cable with a return cable paid for, she finally received an answer. The cable listed a few things which were most needed and now a package goes to Norway every week.

PFC JOHN H. BRIGGS

Pfc. John H. Briggs has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Sally Elizabeth Briggs and his sister, Mrs. T. L. Chase at 155 S. Baldwin. He has a 30 day furlough having returned from Europe with four battle stars and a Purple Heart decoration. He will return to Santa Barbara for re-assignment.

Scouts Trained for Communications

The Forestry Department has asked for Boy Scout assistance which we believe Boy Scouts will be anxious to avail themselves of, for it is training in Walkie-Talkie Radio operations. Last week two boys from the Explorer Troop, Ray Hinkley and Rodman Smythe with their councilor, Luke Gervais, reported at the Arcadia Station for the first introduction to the work.

This is an opportunity for boys around 16 years of age to do a great service for the local mountain areas and Southern California. These young men are to be trained to handle the communications line for fire fighting and emergencies, such as accidents, plane crashes, etc. They will keep contact with the radio station workers.

Mr. Gervais will be glad to explain the program and boys are urged to talk with him at 201 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. The next training will be Monday evening, July 16th when the boys will go to the U. S. Forestry Station. They will meet at 7:00 p. m. at Mr. Gervais' home. We are relying on our scouts for this emergency.

CIVIC CLUB HOLDS OPEN HOUSE; VOTES TO HOLD SUMMER SESSION

The "Old Brick Oven" was the scene of an interesting Open House held by the Sierra Madre Civic Club July 5th. A delicious pot-luck supper was served and Where would this happen but in Sierra Madre?

Twenty-three overseas letters came to the local post office the day before the 4th of July too late for the regular mail delivery.

Postmaster Tom Durning, realizing that such a holiday would mean much more to the families if they knew that their boys were O.K. in the war zone, reached down in his own pocket and bought special delivery stamps for 22 of the letters and personally delivered the 23rd.

Geo. B. Kyle Officiates as Master of Sports

Yes, everyone is supposed to turn out for the first Community Sports Night at the City Park. This event has been set up by the City Recreation Commission to demonstrate to those staying at home that there is plenty of recreation awaiting you. Equipment is all shined up for games of horseshoes, shuffle board, croquet, tennis, badminton, checkers, cards, chess or whatever is your favorite game. The commission anticipates that the Community Sports Night will prove popular enough that the demand will be for two nights a week during the summer.

L. A. OFFICIAL RITES HELD WEDNESDAY

Marshall Lloyd Murray, resident of Sierra Madre for 25 years, passed away at his home, 635 W. Grand View, last Saturday at the age of 53. He was born in Dayton, O., and held the position of technical director of the Los Angeles County Housing Authority at the time of his death. He was by profession a structural engineer.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Milo Murray, and daughters, Mrs. Janet E. Flint of Flintridge and Mrs. Enid Cantrell of Altadena; mother, Mrs. Sarah Murray of Dayton, O., and grandchildren, Murray Cantrell, Lloyd M., Curtis E. and Rodney Flint.

Mr. Murray's death was caused by an accident in his own yard. Mrs. Murray found him entangled in the ropes of the swing late in the evening, one foot having apparently caught in the cuff of his trousers, the leather of the shoe being torn. The entanglement caused his death by strangulation.

The funeral services took place yesterday in the First Congregational church with Rev. S. R. Sheriff officiating. Entombment at Mountain View mausoleum with arrangements in charge of the Grant chapel.

Benefit Dinner to Pay for Camp Equipment

Because there was no camping equipment for Boy Scout Troop No. 3 and they were unable to go to the big camp in the mountains, a meeting was held at the home of Hans Gutherz, chairman. At this meeting it was decided to have a benefit dinner at Pritchard Hall next Wednesday evening, 7 o'clock, the proceeds to be used for buying camp equipment for the troop. To buy tickets call Mrs. Wm. Keith, 4341. The Scouts will put on a mock demonstration following the dinner.

"The Petrified Forest" is Now at Pasadena Playhouse

Robert Sherwood's thrill-packed drama of the Arizona desert, of a small filling-station-lunchroom that turned suddenly from a quiet spot in the burning sand to a fortress of action is "The Petrified Forest," which comes to Pasadena Playhouse stage from July 10 to 15 as the third entry in the current Midsummer Drama Festival schedule.

It's just another hot Arizona desert day for waitress Gaby Maple when the stranger Alan Squire drops in on his way to the Petrified Forest. On this brink of eternity the young lady who wants to see the world and the man who has seen too much of it poise briefly. Into the scene comes the killer Duke Mantee and the action begins.

"The Petrified Forest" was a Broadway smash hit from its opening night in 1935, alternating its drama punches with moments of comedy and intrigue.

Director Onslow Stevens lists a top flight company for the Playhouse Festival staging, with Robert Duke and Irene Jorgenson as the boy-girl, Leonard Stillman, New York musical producer turned actor for Duke Mantee, Morris Ankrum, stage and film featured player, Wallace Fendell, Maudie Prickett, Stanley Lane, Tom Reynolds, Denny Hawkins and others in major roles.

Here's How to Lengthen Life of Cut Flowers

The life of cut flowers may be lengthened considerably by removing them carefully from the parent plant. The best time for cutting them is in the early morning hours. That's when the plant stems are exceedingly turgid and evaporation attains its lowest point. Flowers then have already stored up in their cells a great amount of moisture, and this gives them life after they are removed from the parent plant. The implement used for cutting should be extremely sharp. Don't use scissors that have outlived their usefulness. They leave a ragged edge on the stem, which indicates a short life. The cut flower absorbs moisture through its stem and if the stem is ragged or smashed there can be no rapid penetration of moisture. It's best to cut slantwise, rather than straight.

As soon as possible plunge the flowers into a deep container filled with water. Leave them for several hours before arranging them. They soak up all the water they can possibly absorb, which affords a good start for their indoor life.

A small bit of charcoal should be placed in the vase. Change the water every day if possible; certainly two or three times a week. Foliage trailing into the water decays rapidly, forming a scum on the surface. The leaves will react favorably to being washed off from time to time. It's wise to keep the leaves free of dust because any accumulation stops up the breathing pores. As the flowers start to wither or fade remove them, so they'll not spoil the appearance of the remainder still enjoying good health and making an attractive appearance.

There are times when the farmer is in need of immediate help... family emergencies... sick livestock... machinery breakdowns... times when delays might mean loss of life, property, or money. It is when these unforeseen emergencies arise that he especially appreciates speedy telephone service. And it is why even more and improved telephone service for the farmer is important to our postwar plans.

and Things!

GO WEST, YOUNG MAN, GO WEST!

—Horace Greeley.

WELL, FOLKS, the big offensive against the last of the Axis powers is on! WE ARE GOING WEST!

"THE MOVING FINGER WRITES and having writ moves on"—And the snooping Frog also sees the handwriting on the wall.

HOW LONG IT WILL TAKE our young men to root out the little Sons of Nippon in China and the South Pacific islands, no one knows. Japan itself will be quickly reduced to a heap of rubble. Cut off their gasoline and oil and other supplies, they must be reduced to fighting on foot and cannot possibly wage war against the marvelous mechanized power the U.S. has set in motion.

MOM and POP are DISTRACTED by problems of buying and selling that they can only partially solve to your satisfaction. Merchandise is curtailed, deliveries are curtailed, service is curtailed—and I was "curtailed" as a pollywog!

OF COURSE, THESE THINGS are all the product of fighting and winning a war. Price controls are necessary to prevent inflation. Changes being made in methods of distribution indicate that things will be made a little easier for all of us. WE are going to continue to cooperate! LAST WEEK THE GALLUP POLL showed 87% . . . we are an united people!

THERE ARE PEOPLE in Ourville who do not know that MOM and POP are veterans of World War I. POP was a disabled veteran when they came to this village. They came up the "hard way," and they have done everything possible to keep a business going! POP is foraging far afield for produce, groceries and meats—and we are trying to do a fair and honest job to serve YOU and bring to this big, little store the things that are hard to get elsewhere!

HOW MANY OF YOU HOUSEWIVES would be interested in "How to Cook a Wolf"?

N. B. WE HAVE PLENTY OF MEAT, especially beef. Do you have any points?

LOMA LINDA HEALTH FOODS would like us to tell you we have their products. Have you ever dipped a PROTEIN STEAK in Dixie Fry and served it? 'Tis GOOD—NO POINTS!

THERE IS NO FINER base for creamed asparagus or tuna than RUSKETS, which is a cereal and is also good as a base for sliced peaches or bananas for breakfast.

ALL HOUSEWIVES ARE SHORT of sugar. I would like to suggest Dromedary Ginger Bread Mix—add a package of Nestle's Chocolate Bits and make drop cookies.

I AM TOLD that a few drops of lemon juice in Half 'n Half will make same whip. Worth trying, eh, what?

EVEN IF YOU DO NOT consider yourself one of the artistic temperament, I think you would enjoy "High Lights," the Sierra Madre Arts Guild magazine. To get it, you must belong. See Alfred James Dewey.

"They also serve who only stand and wait."

—Milton's Sonnet on his Blindness.

AMERICA'S MERCHANT SEAMEN

His ship in flames and sinking, Edwin F. Cheney, Jr., quartermaster in the American Merchant Marine, launched a life-raft, maneuvered it through blazing oil by swimming under water, and saved six of his shipmates. Four of these he guided to the raft, then swam back and rescued two others who were injured. For his "extraordinary courage and disregard for his own safety," Cheney received the Distinguished Service Medal from the President.

DR. CLARENCE A. DYKSTRA

Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, provost of the University of California in Los Angeles, and well known in civic and community circles, has accepted the appointment as Southern California Chairman for the "Books for Russia" campaign which starts this week in every community of the country, as a special project of Russian War Relief along with that of food, clothing and medical supplies, the need for which is still great.

Every book contributed will contain an especially designed bookplate which shows they come from the American people. "This cannot help but establish a firmer bond of friendship between the peoples of these two countries," Dr. Dykstra added.

CORN

When farmers were appealed to for greater efforts during the first year of World War II, Iowa produced the greatest tonnage of food and feed in its history. Its hay, grain and forage in 1942 totaled 29,527,000 tons, 23 per cent above 1941. Led by the record yield of 61.5 bushels of corn per acre, its eight main grain crops totaled 20,627,000 tons, 21 per cent above the nearest high point up to then. Millions of dollars from War Bonds went into processing those crops for our fighting men. The crops and land of America represent but a fraction of the real wealth of this richest of lands backing up your War Bonds.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

BRIDGE-BUILDERS

AMERICA'S TRADITIONAL ENGINEERING INGENUITY AND INTEGRITY OF WORKMANSHIP ARE SHOWN IN THE ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF HER BRIDGE-BUILDERS. A FEW EARLY BRIDGES STILL STAND—REMINDERS OF HOW WELL OUR FOREFATHERS BUILT.

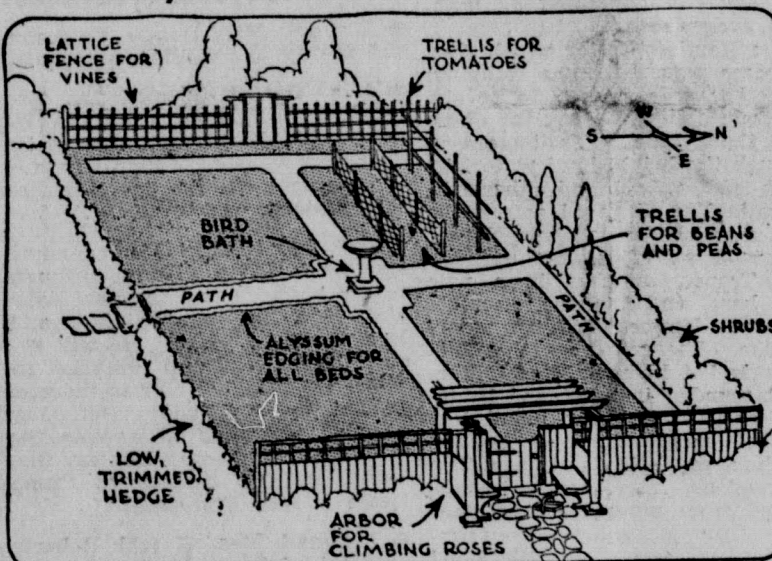

NOW, IN WAR, AMERICAN ENGINEERS WORK UNDER FIRE, IN STRANGE TERRAIN, WITH INCREDIBLE SPEED—BUILDING BRIDGES OVER WHICH AMERICA IS MARCHING TO VICTORY.

Mrs. America Meets the War

In a nutshell, here's the realistic, factual analysis of a tight sugar supply that gives no indication of easing during the next six months: A Cuban drought, Philippine and Java crops destroyed or in Japanese hands, heavy military requirements, need of ships to transport troops to Pacific theatre, and manpower shortage in beet fields and refineries. And, did you know that two-thirds of United States supply of sugar was always imported?

Trellises Bring Order and Beauty into Garden

How to Use Garden Trellises.

A subject of controversy among vegetable growers is whether trellising pays. Many commercial gardeners feel it does not.

But for the average Victory Gardener working a small backyard plot, there exists no reason for failing to trellis vine-like plants. The cost of erecting a sturdy support is nominal, and the work can easily be completed in a few hours.

An important factor in favor of trellising is that it insures clean harvests. The amateur derives great pleasure from picking his own crops at home. If the vegetables are dirty or misshapen, this harvesting job is decreased. Further, a dirty crop always takes more time to prepare for the table.

When vines grow up in the air, it becomes more difficult for insects to carry on destruction. Snails and worms are surface creepers to a large extent; although they do climb up on the foliage, it's much easier for them to eat food right off the ground.

Rains may damage a crop lying on the ground more than one grown on a trellis. An example is the tomato. After a heavy rain, the ground may stay wet for quite some time. That side of the tomato resting on the soil often decays from being in constant contact with the damp earth.

GIFTS FOR OVERSEAS

A box of food from home gets a special welcome from the members of the armed services. Although they are well fed, something special from home is always a good morale builder. Because of the way these parcels must be handled, because of the hot, humid climate in some of the war zones, because long delays are often necessary before delivery, only non-perishable or semi-perishable foods—enclosed in tin cans or tin boxes—will arrive in edible condition. The mailing of many packages to people in the service is not encouraged by the Army and Navy due to transportation difficulties overseas.

DATE BARS

- 2 eggs
- 3 Tbsp. sugar
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 3 Tbsp. flour
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 1 c. nuts
- 1 c. dates

Beat eggs until light; mix and add sugar, salt, flour and baking powder; beat well. Add nuts and dates cut in pieces. Bake in 8-inch square pan, 350°F., for 20 to 25 minutes. Cut in 1-inch rectangles and dust with powdered sugar.

APPLE SAUCE FRUIT CAKE

(Fills two 1-lb. coffee cans)

- 1/2 c. shortening
- 1 c. sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 c. hot, thick applesauce, unsweetened
- 1 1/2 c. sifted flour
- 1 tsp. soda
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/2 tsp. cloves
- 1 c. chopped nuts
- 1 c. raisins
- 1 c. chopped dates
- 1 c. dried currants
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Grease tins well; line with wax-paper and grease. Cream fat and sugar; add beaten egg. Add applesauce alternately with sifted dry ingredients, reserving 1/4 c. flour to dredge fruit. Add vanilla and flour and fruit and stir well. Pour into cans. Bake 1 hour in 325° oven, or until done. Allow to cool thoroughly before packing.

We have examined the balance sheet of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Pasadena as of June 30, 1945, and the statements of operations, undivided profits and reserves for the semi-annual period then ended, have reviewed the system of internal control and the accounting procedures of the association and have examined or tested accounting records of the association and other supporting evidence by methods and to the extent we deemed appropriate.

'Billie', the Alligator, No. 1 Lure

AROUND AND ABOUT

By EDWARD LLOYD VOORHEES

NICE—Shadows of Fame—II.
The luncheon at Frank Harris' proved, of course, a gustatory treat—culinary and literary. Native French dishes with the finest of old wines, white and red, adorned the table, which was presided over by the titan-haired Mrs. Harris, gracious and smiling, with a soft, lovely voice and the golden gift of silence at the right moments—which was most of the time, for she knew well how much her husband enjoyed talking and reminiscing, and how well he could do it. Born Helen O'Hara of Dublin, Mrs. Harris was very much younger than her husband, and it seemed to me that she had not aged at all in the 10 years since I had last sat at their table in the basement dining room of the old red brick house at Seventh Ave. and 14th St. in New York. Mrs. Harris' visiting sister made the fourth, and I remember that both sisters, but particularly Mrs. Harris, had very white skin—as white as Isolt of the White Hands. And did I only fancy that one of them had also a touch of that still melancholy which sometimes settled upon the legendary Deirdre of the Sorrows, who knew so well that men's hunger for woman is a hunger as ceaseless as the ocean tides?

But I know that we were at the table for hours; that the conversation never lagged and was freshened by wit, humor, and trifles light as air; that Harris described the appearance and disposition of D. H. Lawrence—whom he didn't like; that he said Lord Alfred Douglas had written the best sonnet in the English language on death and retribution—which may well be—and Harris recited it impressively, from memory; and that he told that well-known story of giving Bernard Shaw a job as musical critic on the London Sturday Review at twice his previous salary for only a fraction of the hours, so that Shaw would have more time to get started as a playwright. . . . Nobody looked at a watch and nobody cared what time it was—but the party did come to an end, and when the Harris casually asked me if I would care to stop off at St. Tropez on my way down to Marseilles and carry their greetings and love to an old friend there, I said yes, and they gave me a letter and verbal messages, and I bade my interesting and hospitable hosts goodbye. I carried away with me a rare copy of my host's play, "Joan la Romee," inscribed to me "from his friend, Frank Harris" and I note that it is dedicated to the wealthy New York banker and connoisseur, Otto H. Kahn, as "an artist and master of life."

I never saw Frank Harris again, and two years later, still at Nice, he died. His favorite quotation was, "Love is my sin." From my copy of his "Contemporary Portraits" (1919), the first book he gave me, I quote from the Foreword: "It is by love that the artist reaches higher than the impartiality of the man of science and discovers the secrets of the spirit; love is the only key to personality and is as necessary to the artist as his breath. It is indeed the breath of the soul, the emanation which clothes Truth with the magical vestment of Beauty." One might say that those words embody the best of Frank Harris. And I may add that as Oxford University has been called the home of lost and 'unpopular causes, so Frank Harris was their champion with tongue and pen, the generous and fearless defender of the underdog and the oppressed of mankind everywhere.

The Harris' letter which they gave me was to Emma Goldman—another exile from America. As my train chugged along the shore of the blue Mediterranean, through the bright-bued watering-place of Raphael and other villages in Var, I gazed across the bay formed by a horn-shaped peninsula at whose far end lay San Tropez, swathed in a pale blue haze, and tried to speculate on what Emma Goldman would be like. She was now, the Harris had told me, Mrs. Colton. That sounded innocent and harmless enough, but my mind, like that of many adults as well as children, was still fixed upon first impressions, stereotyped images gained from newspaper headlines and other journalistic oversimplifications—and these still stood out in my memory from boyhood to 1920 as "Anarchist" and then "Communist." Putting up at a quiet little inn facing a cozy little square filled with rustling 'sycamores, I asked the proprietor if he could direct me to the residence of Madame Colton. "Mais, oui, Monsieur!" he instantly replied and told me how to reach the Maison Mossier. And there, high above the dusty road, buried in a garden of roses, quince, fig, and cherry trees heavy with ripe fruit I found my boyhood ogress, "Anarchist" and "Communist."

A buxom, merry-visaged matron of ample figure and curves, looking not a little like a German hausfrau, with twinkling, intelligent eyes behind spectacles—a step ladder picking cherries to make preserves! After a moment of gravity at hearing me address her in English, the name of the Harris worked magic, and down she came step by step. I am happy to say, on the ladder—and gave me a hearty welcome, smiling and nodding her head over the Harris letter until her bobbed iron-gray hair got completely out of control, which seemed to be its natural condition. Her basket being nearly full of cherries, she suggested we go up to the house, where I was introduced to her secretary, Miss L., an attractive American girl, and we all three sat down on the back porch of the plain little villa, near an open well shaded by a pomegranate tree in blossom.

The first thing I knew I also had my place at the sorting bowl and was trying to answer eager questions for news from America. I was not the only arrival at Maison Mossier that afternoon, it turned out, and the evening was to prove interesting, jolly, and informative.

Ask the Professor

By H. F. Noake

Dear Professor:

Read where a boy got lost 25 miles from home and his faithful little dog found and guided him safely back. Isn't that a wonderful bit of retrieving?

Ans.: Sounds pretty far-fetched to me.

Dear Professor:

Don't you find our new pennies confusing? They look exactly like dimes.

Ans.: A dollar is beginning to look like 10 cents too.

Dear Professor:

Understand MGM will revive the "Merchant of Venice. Any dope on this?

Ans.: Didn't even know he'd fainted.

Stove Purchasers Warned by OPA on Certificate Change

Consumers and dealers holding stove purchase certificates on which deliveries have not yet been made, were warned today by the Office of Price Administration to exchange them for the new revised form before July 31, when the old issue will become invalid.

John B. Melvin, OPA rationing official, in voicing the warning, said that dealers would have an additional period, through August 15, in which to effect the exchange for the new form, while distributors will be allowed until August 22.

After these dates the war price and rationing boards will not accept the old form for exchange.

◆ Sunday afternoon at St. Rita's church Richard Eugene Morago, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Morago, was baptized by Fr. Leo Scheibel, C.P. Joseph McCluskey and Miss Natalie Contreras were the sponsors.

FIRE FLAMES

Whether it has ever happened before or not, this will go down on record as a positive statement that we did have rain on Sunday, July 8, 1945. Didn't it have a lovely aroma? It did to firemen, because it spelled less fire danger for a short period.

The firemen's picnic on the Fourth was proclaimed a whooping success. As the many firemen and their families and guests gathered it began to appear to the faint-hearted members that there may be a shortage of food. But not to Vern Udell and Joe Swanson. They knew all along that Mr. and Mrs. Orme of the "Trail Inn" would soon be along with a pot of plenty. The Ormes spent much of their regular "day off" preparing and cooking food for the picnic and it is to them that the firemen owe much for the success of the day. Mrs. Orme, better known as "Thelma" to most of the boys, worked loyally for the firemen. Our hats are off to the Ormes and their aides! The picnic was not interrupted by a fire alarm, nor were there many fires in the entire State. The lack of fire, due to the elimination of dangerous fireworks, should be ample proof of the folly of the old tradition, not to mention the scarcity of burned fingers and injured children. Another year or so of the abolition of hazardous fireworks and the youth will have forgotten about it and the new generation will not have known of it. We will all be much better off.

It all depends on how Bob Babbit feels about it. If he enjoys going to all things hinting on the side of excitement, or whether he would rather sleep along in peace for all other than fire calls. At any rate, Bob lives along the "Main Street" and be it a siren to stop a speeder, or whether it be a fire truck speeding to a fire, he hears it and is up and at 'em. It is more strange to the "Cops" to arrive without Bob than with him. He is sure to follow the sound of a siren (not the kind that lures firemen to donning loud socks and decorated neckties). He is one of those firemen who can never be found when you want him, but is always first at a fire.

As time travels along, the city crew of men (who are clearing lots of fire hazard) are nearing the completion of their job. Some of the lots are not as slightly as they have been in days gone by. This is no reflection on the men. They are doing a splendid piece of work when all handicaps are considered. These men have much to do. More than they can do. To have the lots cleaned at all is deeply appreciated by the men of the fire department. Hazardous conditions about the city are still bad, but in so much better condition than a few weeks ago, that we as firemen are "beginning" to see the light.

Stripes catch the eye, when they are handled in a clever manner. Soft as a breeze is this gray and white dress with stripes forming a design in the pockets. Patterns available at your local stores. Savings by sewing will help win the war, when invested in an extra War Bond.

A few of our early morning newsboys gathered in front of and in the fire station one Sunday morning. They were waiting for Art Morse to wrap papers for them to deliver about town. Their admiration for the new truck became rather noisy for the fireman above, who was trying to get a few extra winks of sleep. It was a total surprise to the "newsies" when a shower of water came from overhead. It didn't take long for the dispersment of the noisemakers.

The writer has heard many nice things said about what a fine place for the picnic. It was held at the home of Sally and Jerry Fairfield. Long before the Fourth of July, both had trimmed trees and cleaned up leaves until the grounds actually glistened with neatness. It only takes a short time for a large group of people to trample down nice fresh ground and grass and it is well understood just how much of this causes labor after it is done. We take this method of thanking Sally and Jerry from the depth of our hearts for their wonderful hospitality. It is truly appreciated.

If it should snow before this goes into print, it would be sort of embarrassing to suggest that we get rid of those dry weeds and trimmings before they take off. For that reason I'd hate to see it snow. Even then if the yard was clean, it would help to keep the FIRES OUT.

Mulches Keep Soil from Baking Hard in Sun

During warm weather plant mortality reaches high proportions. One of the greatest obstacles to plant growth is crust formation on the surface of the soil. This arises from complete exposure to the sun, a condition greatly aggravated whenever the ground is at all moist. A friable soil, slightly damp, may be transposed in just a few hours of direct sunlight to an impenetrable crust that may be cracked only with a pickaxe. Against such insurmountable difficulties you can see what scant chance a tiny seedling has of pushing its head above the soil.

A mulch will minimize this problem during the summer season. There are many different types of material that may be utilized, including leaf mold, peat moss, straw and even bits of torn newspaper. Shade provided under a lath will also be worthwhile. Many commercial growers cover the seed bed with sections of old burlap or sack.

The sacking is stretched across the surface of the seed bed and wetted down thoroughly. It checks evaporation and prevents the soil from baking. Remember, this has value only up to the time that seedlings show above the ground. It must then be removed or it will

A little Filipino girl waves a flag to attract trade as she peddles bananas in the debris-littered streets of Manila. There is still a trace of the weariness of war in her tiny face as she eagerly awaits her customers, one of whom was the Coast Guard photographer who recorded this scene.

Many Attend Tea at San Gabriel Artist Guild

Many art lovers were in San Gabriel Sunday afternoon attending the reception and tea given at the San Gabriel Artist Guild in honor of Mrs. Dorothy Baugh and Howard Morgridge. Both artists are exhibiting their work in the studios for July and August.

Mr. and Mrs. George Morgridge received in place of their son, Howard, who is in service at Leyte, the Philippines. Howard added to his pen sketches eight beautiful water colors which arrived from the Pacific last Thursday. His work is exhibited as a unit in a room devoted to him, the print room.

UNUSUAL ART PHASES AT LATEST GUILD MEET

Art was observed last week at the Arts Guild in a unique and charming way. Mrs. Mae Wright presented her colored movies of the four seasons in Wisconsin which were a real treat to Californians and an especial joy to those familiar with Wisconsin charm.

Mrs. Edward Clinton Young in an informal talk told what Red Cross Camp and Hospital committee is doing in the Army and Navy hospitals through the courtesy of artists in local chapters. She says that the really sick men (those not able to lift their heads off the pillow) seem to be benefited by beautiful paintings the same as they long for the better music. It does something for their souls. Often it stimulates a desire to relieve in the field of art. They show the effect by inquiring where they may see more paintings. Mrs. Young told of the splendid work that artists are now doing by teaching, sketching and visiting with the men in the Army and Navy hospitals.

Mr. Reynolds requested the sum of $150 for equipment and stated they wish to provide an opportunity for people to have recreational facilities but not to force it down their throats.

City Clerk Robertson introduced the request of the government that a survey of the entire State is desired and many cities have already completed their work. The Civic club has offered to conduct a house-to-house survey in this city. its survey. The government headquarters for the project for this section is in Pasadena.

The Council authorized the Mutual Aid plan with neighboring cities in time of emergency, disaster or for law enforcement.

A communication from the Los Angeles County Flood Control suggested that Sierra Madre construct a culvert, acquire a right of way for a new channel at Lima and Orange Grove, construct the channel and protect it with pipe and wire revetments.

It was estimated this would cost the city about $7000. The Council felt that this is up to the Flood Control Committee, and that the work is for the benefit of lands below Orange Grove and of no value to Sierra Madre.

A letter from the Planning Commission stated that that body had approved the petition of Harold Spears for the abandonment of the 25-foot setback on the lots at the corner of Sunnyside and Grand View. The Council took no action on the matter.
